DELEGATE PROFILE

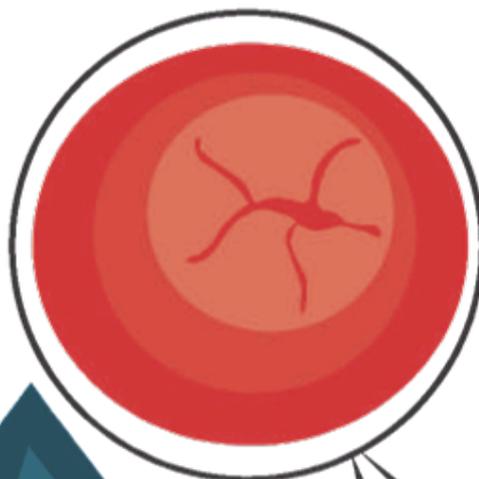

Biannually, the NZNO College of Stomal Therapy Nursing Conference brings together 80 stomal therapy and gastro nurses from across Aotearoa New Zealand to learn, network, discuss, and broaden horizons. Our conference features sessions covering a range of topics, including presentations from a colorectal surgeon, pelvic exenteration, ostomate wellbeing, pediatrics, a patient perspective and more.

WHO WE ARE

Stomal therapy nursing and care of the patient with a faecal and/or urinary stoma is a challenging yet deeply rewarding working partnership between a patient and nurse. A Stomal Therapist (STN) provides individualised care to the person with a stoma and their family or whānau across the care continuum, promoting self-care for long-term health gain. A STN draws on their knowledge, skill and experience to create a plan of care that optimise a patient's quality of life and abdominal health.

STNs are committed to te Tiriti o Waitangi articles and as health professionals, we are serious in demonstrating our active protection roles with patients, their family, and whānau. When working with Māori, the STNs knowledge and skills framework seeks to reflect the requirements for STNs as documented in the NZNO CSTN Standards of Practice 2015, including Kāwanatanga, Rangatiratanga, Ōritetanga and Wairuatanga. Bringing this all together, we work in a multi-disciplinary team to provide optimised health care for the patient, their family/whānau and their stoma.

This conference is for you, your upskilling and bringing your innovations in the field of colorectal and the gastrointestinal health care.

KEYNOTE SPEAKER

Jake Bailey

Passionate Educator on Resilience

Jake Bailey is an internationally acclaimed educator on resilience, the youngest #1 bestselling author in New Zealand history, and as a Commonwealth Study Conference alumnus has been recognised as one of the most promising emerging leaders across the Commonwealth.

Jake first caused a global sensation aged 18, when he gave a speech from a wheelchair as head boy of Christchurch Boys' High. Delivered less than a week after Jake had been diagnosed with the most aggressive form of cancer known to man, the speech went on to touch the hearts of tens of millions and drew support from across the globe.

Once in remission, Jake's experience left him with questions: what exactly enables people to overcome adversity? Are we born with these skills, or are they trainable? And if so, what does it take to create people able to not only recover, but to grow from immense setbacks?

Jake's search for answers has taken him to Antarctica, made him run ultramarathons, had him interview World Champions and Prime Ministers, and led him to study positive psychology in order to learn from experts and everyday people alike what it is that makes us resilient. He has shared his work with over 100,000 people across the globe, through thousands of presentations across dozens of cities, and developed resilience strategies for corporations, organisations, and schools, educating audiences ranging from elite athletes to children in outback towns, Fortune 500 CEOs to prison inmates, and foreign governments to retirement homes on evidence-based tools to enable us to most effectively overcome the challenges we all face in life.

Jake is driven by having seen the powerful impact that resilience has had on his own life both during and post-cancer, and consequently knowing the potential which these trainable and attainable skills can have on the happiness and success of others.

MTANZ Code of Ethics

All exhibitors must adhere to the guidelines of the MTANZ Industry Code of Ethics 2021 (and amendments). A copy of the Code of Ethics can be viewed here.

Ethical standards and compliance with applicable laws are critical to the medical technology industry's ability to continue its successful collaboration with healthcare professionals.

A close relationship between suppliers and the clinician is a key element in the innovation and development of medical technology products. This close relationship is a positive for patients who are the ultimate beneficiaries of advanced medical technology. However, this close relationship does require a clear understanding of ethical behaviours by both parties.

In particular when exhibiting at a MTANZ organised conference, clause 5.10 'Gifts to Healthcare Professionals' must be adhered to. This clause states the following:

- A company should ensure that sales of Medical Technology are made solely on the basis of efficacy, safety, quality, price and service and never on the basis of a Healthcare Professional receiving payments, gifts or Hospitality.

Companies may not:

- provide Healthcare Professionals any type of branded or non-branded promotional items (e.g. pens, notebooks, tote bags), even if the item is of minimal value and related to the Healthcare Professional's work or for the benefit of the patients.
- provide Healthcare Professionals with gifts, including gifts of cash, food, wine or spirits, gift baskets, gift cards/certificates or flowers.
- accept a gift from a Healthcare Professional which is beyond the level of what is reasonable and customary in the circumstances of the relationship.

A company may:

- occasionally provide a Healthcare Professional with an educational item that benefits patients or serves a genuine educational function for the Healthcare Professional provided the item has a fair market value of less than $100, except in the case of medical textbooks or anatomical models.

For the avoidance of doubt, this clause does not preclude the legitimate practice of providing to Healthcare Professionals appropriate samples of Medical Technologies for genuine training, educational or Medical Technology evaluation purposes (generally in a clinical setting).
